

Honors & Awards Ceremony 2005

Welcome

Haroutune Armenian, MD, DrPH
Professor
Department of Epidemiology
Chair, Honors & Awards Committee

New and Schoolwide Awards

Alfred Sommer, MD, MHS
Dean

Departmental Awards

Haroutune Armenian

Alumni Association Awards

Frederic Schroeder, III, MBA
Associate Vice President
Development & Alumni Relations
Johns Hopkins University

Student Outreach Resource Center Community Service Awards

Mindi Levin, MS, CHES
Director
Student Outreach Resource Center

Student Assembly Awards

Srinivas Sridhara, MHS
President, Student Assembly

Reception

Feinstone Hall

The Hiromu Tsuchiya Consolidated Scholarship Fund

Hiromu Tsuchiya came to the United States from Japan in 1911. Penniless, he worked his way through the School's parasitology program. After graduating in 1930, he taught at Washington University's Medical School for 50 years. In many ways, his life and career typify hundreds of students who pass through the School every year. At his death, Dr. Tsuchiya bequeathed part of his estate to provide financial aid to students at the Johns Hopkins School of Public Health. Income from this fund is added to general funds for student aid, which are disbursed through the School's Financial Aid Office. The income is to be used to support students not eligible for other restricted support within the School. While there is no single student named as the Hiromu Tsuchiya Awardee, we take this opportunity to honor his legacy and to acknowledge all the students at the School who give so much of themselves to serve humankind through public health research and practice.

New Awards

The Harvey M. Meyerhoff Scholarship in Cancer Prevention

This fund was established in 2003 by the Joseph Meyerhoff Family Charitable Funds. Harvey M. (Bud) Meyerhoff, a former chairman of the board of trustees of the Johns Hopkins Hospital and Health System, has served many years on the boards of both the health system and the university. He is a well-known Baltimore civic leader and philanthropist. Income from the fund will support fellowships in cancer prevention in the Department of Epidemiology.

Recipient: Tram Lam

Baker, Reinke, Taylor Scholarship in International Health

Established in 2004, this scholarship commemorates over 100 combined years of dedicated public health service by Drs. Timothy D. Baker, William Reinke and Carl E. Taylor. The efforts of these three men were instrumental in establishing the field of international health as a distinct discipline. This fund supports graduate students in the Department of International Health at the Bloomberg School of Public Health.

Recipient: Joshua Garoon

The Marjorie F. and Joseph I. Berman Family Award

Established by Joseph I. Berman, MD, MPH, in memory of his late wife, Marjorie F. Berman, this award provides financial assistance to deserving students.

Recipient: Yandong Qiang

The Caroline Cochran Scholarship Fund in Population and Reproductive Health

Income from this fund will provide tuition assistance to incoming and continuing graduate students in the Department of Population and Family Health Sciences who are interested in population and reproductive health.

Recipient: Jessica Gipson

Schoolwide Awards

Aoyama-Kita Scholarship

Dr. Hideyasu Aoyama was one of Dr. Anna Baetjer's students in the 1960's. He returned to his native Japan and became the chair of all departments of preventive medicine for all medical schools in the country. He is the president of Kochi Women's University. Etsuko Kita, MD, PhD, completed a post doctoral fellowship in the School's Department of International Health in the 1990s. She is president of the Japanese Red Cross Kyushu International College of Nursing. This fund provides scholarships for public health physicians from Japan, Korea, and Malaysia who will pursue careers in public health practice in those countries, and/or who demonstrate an avid research interest in public health issues affecting those countries.

Recipient: Ai Koyanagi

Frederik B. Bang Fund

Frederik Bang, MD, served as chair of the Departments of Parasitology from 1953 to 1955 and Pathobiology from 1955 to 1981. His research was noted for translating the microscopic to the macroscopic. Dr. Bang was an extraordinarily creative scientist whose interests ranged from microscopy to animal ecology. By using the blood of the horseshoe crab, Dr. Bang and a colleague, Dr. Jack Levin, developed a procedure to identify and diagnose meningitis in septicemia, a blood poisoning that struck 75,000 young people a year. His widow, the late Betsy Bang, and various family members and colleagues established this fund in his memory to support a doctoral student engaged in research relevant to pathobiology.

Recipients: Bjorn Kafsack
Michelle Kittlesohn

J. Howard Beard Fellowship

This fellowship was established in 1989 by the family, friends, and colleagues of J. Howard Beard MD, MS, who dedicated his career to improving the health of the people of Maryland. He turned the Anne Arundel County Health Department into a model agency, and his management and innovative programs have been cited with approval in a variety of public health publications, including those used to introduce students to public health and administration. The fellowship supports beginning masters of public health students who are graduates of the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine or enrolled in the joint MD/MPH program. Preference is given to candidates interested in careers in local or state public health work.

Recipient: Robert J. Stenger

The David and Elinor Bodian Scholarship Fund

The David and Elinor Bodian Foundation established this award to honor the late Dr. David Bodian, who served on the School's faculty from 1942 to 1947, and his wife Elinor. Dr. Bodian's seminal research on the behavior of the poliovirus contributed to the development of the polio vaccine and to worldwide progress in combating this crippling disease. Elinor Bodian graduated from the Art as Applied to Medicine Program at the School of Medicine. The fund provides annual support to a doctoral student in any department at the School whose dissertation research is at a critical juncture.

Recipient: Laurel E. Hatt

Schoolwide Awards

The Bacon Field Chow Memorial Fellowship

This fellowship was established in 1997 by Mrs. Idella Chow in memory of her husband, Bacon Field Chow, who served on the faculty of the Department of Biochemistry from 1949 until his death in 1973. Dr. Chow was internationally recognized for his studies on the effects of maternal diet on a mother's offspring. The fellowship supports outstanding doctoral students working in the area of human nutrition research.

Recipient: Christine Johnson

The Dean's Alumni Advisory Council Scholarship

Created by members of the Dean's Alumni Advisory Council, this fund provides tuition support to deserving incoming or continuing students whose careers in public health will be dedicated to the global defense of human life through the prevention of disease, disability, and premature death.

Recipient: Lindsey J. Reynolds

The Carol Eliasberg Martin Scholarship in Cancer Prevention

This fund was established in 1998 by the Eliasberg Family Foundation in memory of Carol Eliasberg Martin, MHS '82. She died in 1997 after a long battle with cancer. This fund provides annual support to an outstanding doctoral student or postdoctoral fellow whose work holds promise for preventing cancers that affect women, with a focus on breast and ovarian cancer.

Recipients: Sonia Singh
Salma Shariff-Marco

Endowed Student Support Fund

Established in 2000, this fund supports students undertaking research projects in injury control or population control in developing countries. Preference will be given to those students conducting research in China, India, and Indonesia.

Recipient: Mei Wen

The Eskridge Family Student Support Fund for International Students

From 1931 to 1938, Lydia Eskridge was a student and research assistant to Dr. Robert Hegner, head of parasitology at the School. Her research focused on dysentery, malaria, hookworm and mosquitoes. She went on to become a parasitologist with a team of Hopkins scientists at a therapeutic institute in New York City, connected with the William R. Warner pharmaceutical company, later known as Warner Lambert. The Eskridge Family Student Support Fund for International Students reflects the life-long commitment of Lydia Eskridge Arden to public health.

Recipient: Hossein Bahrami

Schoolwide Awards

The Ruth Freeman Memorial Fund

The late Dr. Freeman, a member of the faculty and coordinator of the nursing programs at the School, was elected to the National Nursing Hall of Fame in 1984. This award, established by her family, friends, and alumni, recognizes an outstanding graduating or continuing nurse doctoral student.

Recipient: Elizabeth Sloand

The Howard C. and Jane R. Goodman Fund

Howard Goodman, MD, PhD, was a faculty member in the Schools of Medicine and Public Health from 1977 until he retired in 1985. He had a long and distinguished career in medical science, including pioneering and leading the World Health Organization's Tropical Diseases Research Program. This fund was established by his family and friends to provide tuition support to outstanding American and international students enrolled in the MPH program.

Recipient: Aparajita Singh

The Lillian Hiss–Ethel Crosby Scholarship Fund

This award was established to honor Lillian Hiss and Ethel Crosby, nurses who dedicated their careers to public health nursing at the Catonsville Health Clinic. In 1971, the Clinic was sold, and the proceeds were donated to the School to offer support to graduate students with nursing backgrounds.

Recipients: Susan M. Braid
Carey F. McCarthy

The Sibley and Catherine Hoobler Award for Excellence in Public Health and Medicine

As an alumnus of both the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine and the Bloomberg School of Public Health, Sibley Hoobler, ScD '37, MD, combined teaching medical students, caring for patients, and pursuing clinical research. Mrs. Catherine Hoobler trained in dietetics at the University of Michigan, performed fieldwork in this subject for many years, and maintained a lifelong interest in nutrition. Dr. and Mrs. Hoobler established this award to encourage students to pursue studies in both the Bloomberg School of Public Health and the School of Medicine.

Recipient: Emilie JB Calvello

The John C. Hume Fund for Academic Excellence and Promise in an MPH Student

The late John C. Hume, MD, DrPH, was dean of the Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health from 1967 to 1977 and a member of the faculty for 40 years. This award, established by alumni, friends, and faculty, honors Dr. Hume's commitment to excellence in the MPH program.

Recipient: Jennifer M. Hulme

Schoolwide Awards

Johnson & Johnson Community Health Care Scholars

The Johnson & Johnson Community Health Care Program was established in 1987 to help address national health care needs within the community and public health sectors. Each year, public health doctoral candidates from the School are selected from a competitive pool to provide technical assistance for two consecutive years to community health care organizations receiving support from Johnson & Johnson. The J & J Scholars help the grantees with the design and implementation of appropriate monitoring and evaluation approaches to measure the effectiveness of their projects.

Recipients: Sufia Dadabhai
 Krista Dowling
 Craig Martinez
 Karen Menedez
 Darcy Phelan
 Patrick Richard
 Jessica Roberts
 Elizabeth Saylor

The Harry D. Kruse Fellowship in Nutrition

Harry D. Kruse, MD, ScD, collaborated with E.V. McCollum in the latter's renowned vitamin research, and served with distinction for many years as a faculty member in the Department of Biochemistry and Molecular Biology. This fellowship, established in 1987 by the Kruse family, supports a continuing doctoral candidate in nutrition who has displayed outstanding achievement and promise.

Recipient: Chryssanthi Stylianopoulos

The Cynthia and Robert Lawrence Scholarship

Robert Lawrence, MD, associate dean for Professional Education and Programs, and his wife, Cynthia, established this scholarship in 2000 to support a student whose public health interests have a direct bearing on the priorities of the School's Center for a Livable Future.

Recipient: Hee-Jung Song

The Janice Eddy Mickey Endowed Scholarship

This scholarship was established in 1997 by the family of Janice Eddy Mickey, DrPH '68. Dr. Mickey was instrumental in the creation of the Patients' Bill of Rights through her thesis work at Hopkins. The fund supports students who plan to devote their lives to improving health and human rights worldwide.

Recipient: Lindsey J. Reynolds

Schoolwide Awards

The Minority Health Award

The Minority Health Award was established in 1991 as a permanent endowment by alumni and friends of the School. It recognizes students with a demonstrated commitment to minority health issues.

Recipient: Tilly Gurman

The Marcia G. Pines Award in Bioethics and Public Health

This award was established by The Phoebe R. Berman Bioethics Institute of the Johns Hopkins University in honor of Marcia Pines, in recognition of her long-standing support and advocacy on behalf of bioethics education at the Bloomberg School of Public Health. It is given annually for the best student paper in bioethics and public health.

Recipients Summer Johnson
Michal Engelman

The Ruth Rice Puffer Fund for International Student Support

Ruth Rice Puffer made many contributions to public health. She came to the School in 1937 to work with Dr. Wade Hampton Frost. Following her tenure with Dr. Frost, she spent her career working in various countries on tuberculosis and childhood mortality. This fund was established by Carol Lewis, MPH '68, in 1998 to recognize Dr. Puffer's many contributions to public health and is supported by Dr. Puffer's friends and family. The fund supports a masters or doctoral student studying at the School who is not a United States citizen.

Recipient: Maria P. Lemos

The R. Bradley Sack Family Scholarship Award

Established in 2000 by R. Bradley Sack, MS, MD, ScD '68, the award supports outstanding doctoral students studying infectious disease in the developing world. Dr. Sack has served on the faculty at the School for over 30 years and has consulted and worked all over the world on problems related to infectious diseases.

Recipient: Marjorie Opuni-Akuamo

The Ernest Lyman and Helen Ross Stebbins Scholarship

This scholarship was established in 1988 by alumni, friends, and members of the Stebbins family to memorialize Ernest Stebbins, MD, MPH, and his devotion to students at the School. Dr. Stebbins was Dean from 1946 to 1967, and served on the faculty from 1946 to 1972. A pioneer in the field of preventive medicine, he was also renowned as an outstanding physician, epidemiologist, health commissioner, and professor. He was a charter member, and later president, of the American Board of Preventive Medicine. The Stebbins award is given to students who focus on professional practice.

Recipient: Sara Holtz

Schoolwide Awards

The Watt/Hansell Endowment

The Watt/Hansell Endowment was established in 1994 by James Watt, MD, DrPH '36 and Myron Wegman, MD, MPH '38. The late Dr. Watt was the first of four generations of Watt/Hansell Hopkins graduates to combine medical studies with training in public health. James Watt was a Diplomat of the American Board of Preventive Medicine. His crusade to promote public health led to the creation of the Watt/Hansell Endowment, which supports the cross-training of students in the Schools of Public Health and Medicine.

Recipients: 2004: Robert Luo
Lisa M. Nutting

2005: Matthew Burkey
Mark Siedner

Departmental Awards

Biochemistry and Molecular Biology

The Elsa Orent Keiles Fellowship in Biochemistry

This fellowship was established in 1996 with a bequest from the estate of Elsa Orent Keiles, ScD '25, a graduate of the Department of Chemical Hygiene (now Biochemistry and Molecular Biology). In keeping with Dr. Keiles' research interests, the award provides tuition support for graduate students with demonstrated financial need in the Department of Biochemistry and Molecular Biology and in the Division of Human Nutrition in the Department of International Health.

Recipient: Diane Grove

Biostatistics

The Helen Abbey Fund

This fund was established by friends, faculty, colleagues, and former students of the late Helen Abbey, ScD '51, to celebrate her long and fruitful tenure in the Department of Biostatistics. The award provides support for second-year (and later) Biostatistics doctoral candidates who have a commitment to teaching and will be a teaching assistant to students in Biostatistics.

Recipient: Kathryn Ziegler

Louis I. Dublin and Thomas D. Dublin Fund for the Advancement of Epidemiology and Biostatistics

Thomas D. Dublin, MD, DrPH '41, trained as an epidemiologist at the School. His father, Dr. Louis I. Dublin, was a distinguished biostatistician. Their two public health disciplines have long been united by a tradition of collaboration as exemplified by the notable partnership of Lowell Reed and Wade Hampton Frost and that continued legacy of cooperation is honored with the creation of this fund. This fund will support graduate student education at the junction of Biostatistics and Epidemiology at the School.

Recipient: Xiaojun You

The Margaret Merrell Fund

This fund has been awarded since 1995 in memory of faculty member Dr. Margaret Merrell ScD, 1930. Founded by friends, colleagues, and former students, the fund supports outstanding doctoral students for their work in Biostatistics.

Recipient: Zhijin Jean Wu

Departmental Awards

Environmental Health Sciences

The Randy E. Bass Award

The Randy E. Bass Award in the Division of Occupational and Environmental Health of the Department of Environmental Health Sciences was endowed in 1996 through Dr. Bass' estate. Randy received his MPH from the School in 1988 and completed the full requirements of the Occupational Medicine Residency in June of 1989. Having received the Secretary's Exceptional Achievement Award from the U.S. Department of Labor, Dr. Bass served as a team member in developing final environmental cadmium standards. He was active in the Occupational Medicine Residency teaching and training programs, and in the teaching of undergraduates. This award benefits a student who demonstrates the same dedication to the field that Randy did during his short career.

Recipient: Rashad M. Saeed

The Environmental Health Engineering Student Development Fund

This fund was established by alumni and faculty of the Division of Environmental Health Engineering to support student development, educational goals, and objectives of the Division of Environmental Health Engineering.

Recipients: Shannon Henshaw Gaffney
Jay P. Graham
Mark Hayden
Jochen Heidler

The Dr. C. W. Krusé Memorial Fund

Dr. Krusé served as chair of the Departments of Sanitary Engineering (1962-1963) and Environmental Health Sciences (1966-1976). This award, established by his colleagues, friends, and former students, recognizes academic achievement.

Recipient: Kannika Taenkhum

Morgan-James Scholarship Fund

Established in February 2002 by Dr. Everett James, Jr., the Morgan-James Scholarship provides financial assistance to an outstanding graduate student in the Department of Environmental Health, whose research interests reflect the distinguished careers in radiation health sciences of Drs. Russell Morgan and A. Everette James Jr. Dr. Everette James received his Sc.M. degree from the School in 1971 as a Picker Advanced Academic Fellow of the National Academy of Sciences and served on the faculty at the Johns Hopkins Medical School from 1971 – 1975. Dr. Russell Hedley Morgan, also a radiologist, was faculty emeritus in the Johns Hopkins Schools of Public Health and Medicine. He received the German Roentgen Medal, one of the highest honors in radiology for outstanding contributions to the field. After a long career in leadership roles at major institutions, Dr. Morgan died in 1986.

Recipients: Kenneth Brenneman
Ming-Kai Chen

The David Leslie Swift Fund in Environmental Health Engineering

Departmental Awards

This fund was established in 1998 by Suzanne Swift in honor of her late husband David Leslie Swift, PhD. Dr. Swift was a faculty member at the School from 1966 to 1997. His research career was distinguished and diverse, and his work on the health effects of particulate matter and air pollutants made him a pioneer in his field. This fund supports exceptional masters, doctoral, or postdoctoral students in the Division of Environmental Health Engineering of the Department of Environmental Health Sciences.

Recipient: Ana Maria Rule

Epidemiology

Miriam E. Brailey Fund

Jonathan Samet, MD, MS, established this fund in honor of Dr. Brailey, who received her MD in Medicine in 1930 and her doctorate degree in Epidemiology in 1931. Dr. Brailey was one of the first doctoral students in the Department of Epidemiology, and she also joined the Epidemiology faculty after graduation as its first female faculty member and taught with Wade Hampton Frost, the founding chair. Dr. Samet is professor and chair of the Department of Epidemiology at the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health, with joint appointments in Oncology and Medicine at the School of Medicine. The scholarship supports graduate training and research in epidemiology.

Recipients: Della Berhanu
Jamila Stockman

The Trudy Bush Fund

Established by friends and colleagues of Dr. Trudy Bush, this fund will support a student pursuing an MHS degree in the Department of Epidemiology with a specialization in women's health. Trudy Bush, PhD, MHS '80, who died suddenly in March 2001, was an internationally recognized expert in the field of women's health, particularly in the areas of menopause, hormone replacement therapy, and cardiovascular disease in women. She was on the School's faculty in the Department of Epidemiology for eight years and remained an adjunct professor after moving to the University of Maryland School of Medicine.

Recipient: Aliza Monroe-Wise

Louis I. Dublin and Thomas D. Dublin Fund for the Advancement of Epidemiology and Biostatistics

Thomas D. Dublin, MD, DrPH '41, trained as an epidemiologist at the School. His father, Dr. Louis I. Dublin, was a distinguished biostatistician. Their two public health disciplines have long been united by a tradition of collaboration as exemplified by the notable partnership of Lowell Reed and Wade Hampton Frost and that continued legacy of cooperation is honored with the creation of this fund. This fund will support graduate student education at the junction of Biostatistics and Epidemiology at the School.

Recipient: Alison Gump

The Dyar Memorial Fund

Departmental Awards

The Dyar Memorial Fund was established in 1994 through the estate of Dr. Robert Dyar, MPH '37, DrPH '38. This award provides tuition support to graduate students in the Department of Epidemiology who do not yet have an M.D. degree.

Recipients: Amy Peterson
David Dowdy

The Charlotte Ferencz Scholarship in the Department of Epidemiology

Charlotte Ferencz, MD, MPH, who established this fund in 2000, has devoted her professional life to unraveling the enormously complex issues posed by congenital heart disease. This scholarship supports students doing research projects on birth defects, with preference given to projects related to the etiology of congenital heart disease. The research may be part of a faculty research project. The intention of the scholarship is to support research leading to the student's doctoral dissertation or masters thesis.

Recipients: Keely Cheslack-Postava
Kesha Baptiste-Roberts

The Mary B. Meyer Memorial Fund

Mary Bradley Meyer, a faculty member in the Department of Epidemiology, was noted for her landmark studies on the effects of maternal smoking and x-ray exposure on pregnant women. This fellowship, established in 1981 by her family, friends, colleagues, and former students, supports doctoral and post-doctoral students in Epidemiology whose research focuses on the epidemiology of reproduction and infant/child health.

Recipients: Jiemin Ma
Renee Gindi

Dr. and Mrs. Roscoe M. Moore, Jr., Scholarship in the Department of Epidemiology

Dr. and Mrs. Roscoe M. Moore, Jr., established the award in 2000 in honor of Dr. Moore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe M. Moore, Sr., of Richmond, Virginia. The scholarship supports a doctoral student, with preference given to graduates of historically black colleges and universities. Dr. Moore is an assistant surgeon general in the U.S. Public Health Service, and associate director for Development Support and African Affairs in the office of International and Refugee Health.

Recipient: Dalila Bailey

The Dorothy and Arthur Samet Student Support Fund in Epidemiology

Established in 1996 by Drs. Jonathan Samet and Thomas Dublin, this fund supports students in the Department of Epidemiology.

Recipients: Siobhan Sutcliffe
Brett Ange
James Symons

Departmental Awards

The Charlotte Silverman Fund in the Department of Epidemiology

Dr. Charlotte Silverman, MPH '42, DrPH '48, an Epidemiology alumna, had a long career in epidemiology at the state and federal levels. She established this fund in 1996 to support outstanding students and junior faculty in Epidemiology whose focus is on epidemiology and policy.

Recipients: David Dowdy
Amy Boore
Rachel Weber

General Preventive Medicine

Ruth B. and J. Douglas Colman Scholarship

This fund was established in 2001 by the daughters of J. Douglas and Ruth B. Colman. Mr. Colman was one of the founders of Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Maryland. This fund honors Mr. and Mrs. Colman's dedication to high quality health care for all. The Ruth B. and J. Douglas Colman Scholarship provides support to an outstanding student in the preventive medicine residency whose focus is on health policy.

Recipient: Roy Hoffman

The GlaxoSmithKline Preventive Medicine Residency Scholarship

The GlaxoSmithKline Preventive Medicine Residency Scholarship was established in 1995 with a gift from SmithKline Beecham. The scholarship offers support to a first-year preventive medicine resident.

Recipient: Maria Prince

David Paton Scholarship in Preventive Medicine

Established in 2001, this fund supports a General Preventive Medicine resident at the Bloomberg School of Public Health. David Paton, MD is a retired ophthalmologist who received his medical degree from the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine and did his residency at the Wilmer Institute. Since his retirement to Long Island, he has been on the boards of the East Hampton Health Care Foundation, the Southampton Hospital and other similar boards. Dr. Paton is a member of the School's Health Advisory Board and strongly supports the concept of preventive medicine.

Recipient: Rachel Wierzba

Departmental Awards

Health Policy and Management

The Marilyn Bergner Award in Health Services Research

Dr. Bergner was a faculty member in the Department of Health Policy and Management from 1986 to 1992. A leader in health services research, she developed the Sickness Impact Profile, a patient questionnaire which measures the level of every day functioning during the course of illness. This award was established by her husband, Dr. Lawrence Bergner, her colleagues, friends, and students.

Recipient: Artyom Sedrakyan

The June Culley Scholarship in Health Policy and Management

Dr. June E. Culley received an MPH degree from the School in 1970 and earned a Doctorate degree in Health Services Administration in 1981. She was a risk manager for the VA Medical Center at Fort Howard, Maryland. The Scholarship, established in 2002 through Dr. Culley's estate, provides support to deserving students from the Department of Health Policy and Management.

Recipient: Paulo Boto

Charles D. Flagle Fund

The Charles D. Flagle Award was established in 1994 by alumni, colleagues, and friends of Charles Flagle, DrEng, in honor of his long dedication to teaching and health services research. Dr. Flagle, professor emeritus of Health Policy and Management, served on the faculty of the School for more than 30 years. From 1967 to 1968, he served as special assistant to the U.S. Surgeon General for Applied Health Technology, and in 1978 was elected to the Institute of Medicine of the National Academy of Sciences. Dr. Flagle's current work relates to technological advances and their translation into clinical services and improved public health. This fund supports a doctoral student from Health Policy and Management whose work is in the area of health services research, including technology assessment and medical informatics.

Recipient: Paulo Boto

The Pearl and Jeremiah German Scholarship in Gerontology

Established in 2001, this fund provides tuition assistance or stipend support or both to those doctoral students in the School's Department of Health Policy and Management or at the Welch Center for Prevention, Epidemiology, and Clinical Research who have declared interest in gerontology.

Recipient: Erin Rand-Giovannetti

Departmental Awards

The William Haddon, Jr. Fellowship in Injury Prevention

The William Haddon, Jr. Fellowship in Injury Prevention was established in 1986 by the sponsors of the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety. This is the nation's first fellowship program in Injury Prevention. Additional funds have been contributed by many of the nation's property and casualty insurers and faculty, alumni, students, and friends of the Department of Health Policy and Management. The Fellowship is designed to stimulate excellence in injury prevention by supporting doctoral studies.

Recipient: Sara Johnson

Health Policy & Management Fellowship Support

This fund was established by Karen Davis, former Chair of the Department of Health Policy and Management, with funds contributed by alumni, faculty, and staff of the department. It provides tuition support for incoming doctoral students each year.

Recipients Paulo Boto
Danielle German
Lori Uscher

The John C. Hume Doctoral Award

Admired for his humor and wisdom, the late Dr. John Hume served as Dean, faculty member, and mentor to many generations of public health professionals. This award, established by faculty, friends, and alumni, honors Dr. Hume's commitment to excellence in doctoral research in public health. This award is granted each year to a continuing student who shows great potential in the field of public health.

Recipient: Salma Shariff-Marco

The Victor P. Raymond Memorial Fund

This award was established in 1994 by friends and family members of the late Dr. Raymond, ScD '87, a graduate of the Department of Health Policy and Management. Dr. Raymond was influential in one of the most dynamic arenas for public policy development, the U.S. Congress. He spent more than 12 years working on health care research and policy analysis, federal health program management, and legislative affairs. The award supports a continuing doctoral student in the department whose work has relevance at the national and state levels.

Recipient: Elizabeth W. Edsall

The John Paul Stapp Endowed Scholarship

Created by friends of Colonel John Stapp, this fund provides for students whose research and study focus on aviation safety, highway safety, or biomechanics—areas that have benefited greatly from Colonel Stapp's historic research.

Recipient: Glen MacPherson

International Health

Departmental Awards

Dr. Henry K. and Lola Beye Scholarship

This fund was established in 2001 through the estate of Lola Beye, widow of Henry Beye, MD. Dr. Beye received his MPH degree from the School in 1942 and was an authority on tropical diseases. He spent many years at the U.S. Public Health Service where he was the director of the Middle America Research Unit. He conducted intensive studies on elephantiasis, hemorrhagic fever, filariasis and schistosomiasis, and during his career worked in such countries as Bolivia, British Guinea, Thailand, and Panama, where he died suddenly on April 11, 1964 of a heart attack. Mrs. Beye, a nurse, often worked in the field with Dr. Beye. This fund supports an outstanding student who has completed a medical degree and is pursuing a graduate degree in the Department of International Health.

Recipient: Ai Koyanagi

Georgeda Buchbinder Fund

Dr. Georgeda Buchbinder received her MPH from the School of Public Health in 1984. She then moved to Hawaii and began a public health career by teaching population science and international health. Her career was progressing extraordinarily well when she was diagnosed with cancer. This fund was established by friends and colleagues after her death to celebrate her all-too-brief career in public health. This fund annually supports students, junior faculty, or other priority projects in international health at the discretion of the Chairman of the Department of International Health.

Recipient: Meaghan Kall

Richard and Barbara Hall Fund

The Fund was created to benefit the Center for Human Nutrition. The Fund will support the school's education and research mission in human nutrition through research conducted by graduate students and junior faculty.

Recipient: Lisa Davis-McGuire

The Diana Hess Memorial Fund

In 1983, the Diana Hess Memorial Fund was established with contributions from her family and friends. Diana Hess, a former Peace Corps volunteer in Kenya, was devoted to improving public health in Africa. The Hess Fund provides an annual scholarship to students in the Department of International Health.

Recipient: Kate Williams

Departmental Awards

The Elsa Orent Keiles Fellowship in Human Nutrition in International Health

This fellowship was established in 1996 with a bequest from the estate of Elsa Orent Keiles, ScD '25, a graduate of the Department of Chemical Hygiene (now Biochemistry and Molecular Biology). In keeping with Dr. Keiles' research interests, the award provides tuition support for graduate students with demonstrated financial needs in the Department of Biochemistry and Molecular Biology and the Division of Human Nutrition in International Health.

Recipients: Chryssanthi Stylianopoulos
Lisa Davis-McGuire
Kristen Hurley
Alisha Rovner
Andrea Hanlon
Erin Hager
Liwei Chen
Jane Schmitz
Hee-Jong Song
Justine Kavle

Procter and Gamble Fellowship

Income from this fund will support masters and doctoral and post-doctoral degree students who are committed to advancing the health and well-being of women and children through clean water and improved nutrition.

Recipients: Ling Shi
Anjali Acharya
Autumn Girouand

The Harry J. Prebluda Fellowship in Nutritional Biochemistry

This fellowship was established in 1990 by Mrs. Harry J. Prebluda and her children in memory of her late husband. Harry Prebluda earned his doctorate degree in biochemistry at the School in 1937, and worked closely with E.V. McCollum. The fellowship fosters the careers of outstanding young scientists focusing on nutritional biochemistry and metabolism.

Recipient: Jee Hyun Rah

The Refugee Health Training Fund

The School has taken the lead in training professionals to meet the growing crisis in refugee health care. This fund provides scholarship support for students on leave from relief organizations who wish to strengthen their expertise in providing health care to refugees and other displaced persons.

Recipient: Kathleen Mitchell
Perri Sutton

Departmental Awards

John Snow, Inc. Award in International Health

John Snow, Inc.'s mission is to provide an extensive range of research and consulting services to the health care and service sectors. The International Division provides technical assistance designed to enhance the effectiveness and quality of public health programs. The John Snow, Inc. Award is an annual award that was created in 2001. It provides financial assistance to outstanding, second-year MHS students in the Department of International Health who are engaged in an international health internship.

Recipients: Amanda Rosecrans
 Bethany Morehouse

The Nancy Stephens Student Support Fund

Established in 1970 as the International Health Fund, this fund provides grants to masters or doctoral students in the Department of International Health who are completing their degrees. For 37 years, Nancy Stephens was the most immensely popular student coordinator in the Department of International Health. At her retirement in 2001, Dr. Robert Black, chairman of the Department honored her by renaming this fund the Nancy Stephens Student Support Fund.

Recipients Alison Scott
 Claire Barrington
 Hee-Jung Song
 Victoria Chou

The Mary and Carl Taylor Fund

The Mary and Carl E. Taylor Fund was created in 1995 with contributions from faculty and alumni in honor of the Taylors' commitment to the students of the School of Public Health and to improving international health through research and action. The fund provides support to a student working in the area of international bioethics.

Recipient: Amy Medley

The Robert D. and Helen S. Wright Fund

This fund was established in 1983 with donations from family members and friends of former International Health faculty member Robert Wright, MD, MPH '40. The Fund provides support for continuing doctoral students who expect to contribute to the improvement of public health in Africa, particularly in Nigeria.

Recipients: Amy Ellis
 Elaine M. Baruwa

Departmental Awards

Mental Health

The Harold and Sylvia Halpert Endowment Fund

Harold Halpert, MPH '64, DrPH '66, and his wife Sylvia established this fund in 1996 to support Department of Mental Health students who are committed to improving mental health services. Awardees are chosen for their achievements and for their potential to contribute to the field of mental health.

Recipient: Michelle Mielke

The Morton Kramer Fund for the Application of Biostatistics and Epidemiology in Research on the Prevention and Control of Mental Disorders

This fund was established by the late Morton Kramer, ScD '39, an internationally renowned research scientist in the Department of Mental Health. The income from this fund provides an annual award to an outstanding doctoral student in the Department who has demonstrated excellence in application of biostatistical and epidemiological methods to the solution of problems in research dedicated to advancing our knowledge of the epidemiology and prevention of mental disorders.

Recipient: Jeannie-Marie Sheppard

The Paul V. Lemkau Scholarship Fund

As the first chair of the Department of Mental Health (1962-1975), Paul Lemkau, MD, instituted the study of mental health within a public health framework. This fund, established by friends, colleagues, and family members, is given to a Department of Mental Health student or fellow who has made a significant difference in the community life of the department.

Recipient: Regina Shih

W. Harry Feinstone Department of Molecular Microbiology and Immunology

The A. Ralph and Sylvia E. Barr Fellowship in Vector Biology

During his extensive career in public health, Dr. Ralph Barr, with his wife Sylvia at his side, made many significant, and original contributions to the field of medical entomology and tropical medicine. Mrs. Barr established this fund in memory of her late husband to support a doctoral or postdoctoral student in the W. Harry Feinstone Department of Molecular Microbiology and Immunology who is working with vectors of infectious diseases in the organisms' natural habitats.

Recipient: Lindsey Garver

Departmental Awards

The Eleanor A. Bliss Honorary Fellowship

The Eleanor Bliss Honorary Fellowship, established in 1989 by Eleanor Bliss, ScD '25, is awarded each year to a deserving doctoral student in the W. Harry Feinstone Department of Molecular Biology and Immunology. Dr. Bliss, a 1925 bacteriology graduate, taught at the Schools of Arts and Sciences and Medicine, in addition to the School of Public Health. The award symbolizes the spirit of Dr. Bliss's work in what was then the Department of Medical Zoology.

Recipient: Christian Baldeviano

The Otis and Calista Causey Fellowship for Immunology

This fellowship was established in 1988 by alumna Calista Causey, ScD '25. Dr. Causey, who served on the Department of Biochemistry faculty in the 1920s and 1930s, created the award to recognize outstanding doctoral students in the W. Harry Feinstone Department of Molecular Microbiology and Immunology.

Recipient: Kiwon Park

Frances A. Coventry Fund

This fund was created in 1995 by the estate of Dr. Frances Coventry, who in 1924 received her doctorate degree from Department of Immunology and Infectious Diseases (now the W. Harry Feinstone Department of Molecular Microbiology and Immunology). Income from this Fund provides support for outstanding students at the Bloomberg School of Public Health.

Recipient: Lindi Tan

Martin Frobisher Fellowship Fund

The Martin Frobisher Fellowship Fund was established in 1990 by friends and colleagues in memory of Dr. Frobisher, ScD '25, who taught pathology and microbiology at the School until the late 1930s. Dr. Frobisher was an exceptional teacher and mentor, and was recognized for his strong commitment to young people and to new approaches for educating future microbiologists. The award supports outstanding doctoral candidates in the W. Harry Feinstone Department of Molecular Microbiology and Immunology.

Recipient: Michael Overstreet

The Dr. Bettylee Hampil Fellowship

The Bettylee Hampil Fellowship was established in 1985 by Dr. Bettylee Hampil, a 1927 graduate of the Department of Immunology and Infectious Diseases (now the W. Harry Feinstone Department of Molecular Microbiology and Immunology) and a pioneer researcher in virology. The award provides support to an outstanding doctoral candidate in the department.

Recipient: Anna Niewiadomska

Departmental Awards

The Hegner, Cort, Root Memorial Scholarship Fund in Immunology & Infectious Disease

The Hegner, Cort, Root Honorary Fellowship was established in 1989 by Drs. Gilbert Otto, Lloyd Rozeboom, and Aurel Foster, and generously supported by many alumni, faculty, family, and friends to perpetuate the memory of Drs. Robert Hegner, William W. Cort, and Francis Root, three giants of the School's early years. This award supports a doctoral student in the W. Harry Feinstone Department of Molecular Microbiology and Immunology.

Recipient: Colleen McHugh

The Dr. Harry J. Lawler Award Fund

This award was established in 1998 by Helen R. Lawler, widow of Harry J. Lawler, MD, ScD. Dr. Lawler enjoyed a long and distinguished career in pediatrics and psychiatry. The award recognizes the work of an outstanding student in molecular microbiology and immunology and provides support for further study.

Recipient: Anitha Moorthy

The Dr. Lloyd and Mae Rozeboom Scholarship

This award was created from the Lloyd E. Rozeboom Lectureship in Medical Entomology, established in 1993 with contributions from Dr. and Mrs. Rozeboom and their friends. Dr. Rozeboom received his ScD in medical entomology in 1934 and served on the faculty for more than 35 years. He was an internationally recognized authority on the transmission of mosquito-borne diseases and a beloved teacher. Both Dr. and Mrs. Rozeboom were known for their devotion to students. The scholarship supports students who are studying medical entomology/vector biology in the W. Harry Feinstone Department of Molecular Microbiology and Immunology.

Recipient: Meera Venkatesan

The Katharine E. Welsh Fellowship in Immunology & Infectious Disease

The late Katharine Welsh, a protozoology student, established this fellowship in 1990. It provides support for an outstanding student in the W. Harry Feinstone Department of Molecular Microbiology and Immunology. When Ms. Welsh was studying Immunology and Zoology in the late 1920s, she was only one of four pioneering women to do so. She pursued a career with the Baltimore City Health Department Laboratories that spanned more than 35 years. Ms. Welsh began as a junior bacteriologist and was acting director when she retired.

Recipient: William Glover

Departmental Awards

The Ruth G. Wittler Student Scholarship Fund

The scholarship was established in 2000 by the estate of Ruth G. Wittler, PhD, MPH '44, of Annapolis, Maryland, who received her doctorate degree in 1944, specializing in filterable viruses. Dr. Wittler was a retired microbiologist from Western Reserve University. She was interested in the Chesapeake Bay environment and active in the Bay Ridge Organization and the Ginger Cove Governance Committee. This scholarship supports students working in the laboratory sciences in the W. Harry Feinstone Department of Molecular Microbiology and Immunology.

Recipient: Allison Brown

Population and Family Health Sciences

The John and Alice Chenoweth-Pate Fellowship

The John and Alice Chenoweth Pate Fellowship in the Department of Maternal and Child Health (now the Department of Population and Family Health Sciences) was created by the late Dr. Alice Chenoweth Pate to honor her late husband, Dr. John Pate MPH '48. Dr. Alice Chenoweth Pate worked with Dr. Paul Harper in the early 1950s to organize the School's program in maternal and child health. She was an integral part of the Children's Bureau, now known as the Maternal and Child Health Bureau, working closely with Dr. Martha May Eliot. As both a practitioner and administrator, Dr. Chenoweth Pate made significant contributions to the health and well-being of mothers and children in the United States. The fund supports women health professionals wishing to pursue post-doctoral opportunities in maternal and child health at the School to increase their skills and knowledge in improving the health of mothers and children in the United States.

Recipient: Karen Men

The Donald A. Cornely Scholarship Fund in Maternal & Child Health

This scholarship was created by family and friends of Donald Cornely, MD, MPH '58, as well as alumni of the former Department of Maternal and Child Health. It honors Dr. Cornely's many contributions to the department during his tenure as chair from 1970 to 1990, and supports doctoral students in the department whose research has application in the field of maternal and child health.

Recipient: Ashley Schempf

The Edward J. Dehne Award in Population Dynamics

The late Edward Dehne, MD, MPH '41, DrPH '55, had a distinguished career in medicine and public health, with a concentration in occupational health. He served in the U.S. Army from 1941 through 1966, when he retired with the rank of colonel. Among his many assignments, he was commander of the Army Hygiene Agency and consultant to the Surgeon General in preventive and occupational medicine. Dr. Dehne created this award to encourage and support doctoral students in the area of reproductive health and family planning.

Recipient: Yong Li

Departmental Awards

The Fellowship in Family Planning and Reproductive Health

Established in 1996, this fund provides support to graduate students or post-doctoral fellows in the Department of Population and Family Health Sciences who are working in the area of family planning and reproductive health.

Recipients: Eva Bazant
Angela Bayer
Sara Holtz

The C. Esther and Paul A. Harper Fund

Students, colleagues, and friends of Dr. Paul A. Harper, MD, MPH '47, the first chair of the former Department of Population Dynamics, established this award at the time of Dr. Harper's retirement. The fund supports students whose research focuses on population issues and students studying maternal and child health whose academic performance has been judged outstanding.

Recipients: Anita Chandra
Britta Beenhakker

The Josephine Kohn and Family Fund

Established in 1997 by the trustees of the Josephine L. Kohn Charitable Lead Trust, the fund reflects Jo Kohn's lifelong interest in family planning and population issues. It provides annual support to incoming and continuing international doctoral students in the Department of Population and Family Health Sciences. Eligible students, who come from countries with vulnerable populations at risk for disease or with poorly developed health care systems or with both, are dedicated to continuing their public health careers in their native countries after graduation.

Recipient: Nan Li

The Carl Swan Shultz Endowment Fund

The Carl Swan Shultz Fellowship, created by Mrs. Carl Shultz to honor her late husband's work in population research, provides support for meritorious doctoral students in reproductive health, family planning, demography, or reproductive biology. Dr. Shultz was a former U.S. assistant surgeon general and director of the Office of Population Affairs in the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. He played a major role in developing federal policy on family planning.

Recipient: Davida Becker

The Kann Trowbridge Fund

The Kann Trowbridge Fund was established in 1995 by Mr. and Mrs. Alexander B. Trowbridge and the S. Kann Sons Company Foundation. Income from this fund provides a fellowship to a U.S. student studying population issues. The fund may also be used to support important faculty research and education projects in family planning and reproductive health.

Recipient: Tilly Gurman

Departmental Awards

Fund in Recognition of Laurie Schwab Zabin for Population and Family Planning Students

The fund was established by alumni, faculty, family, and friends in honor of Laurie Schwab Zabin, professor of Population and Family Health and the founding director of the Bill & Melinda Gates Institute for Population and Reproductive Health. Dr. Zabin has devoted her career to research that addresses women's reproductive health and rights and to her belief that science should serve social change. The fund supports graduate students at the School who are focusing their studies on family planning and reproductive health. Preference will be given to students who are U.S. citizens planning to work in other countries, but the fund may also be used for U.S. students committed to work in disadvantaged areas of the United States.

Recipient: Catherine Harbour

New Awards for Incoming Students

The recipients of the following awards are incoming students who are expected to arrive in Baltimore later this summer. They will be recognized at the Honors and Awards Ceremony in May 2006.

The Hopkins Sommer Scholars Program

Thanks to a unique and unprecedented gift of $22 million from an anonymous donor, the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health has established the Hopkins Sommer Scholars Program. Named at the donor's request in honor of Dean Alfred Sommer, Sommer Scholars are selected for their scholarly abilities and leadership potential. The scholarship provides full tuition and a stipend.

The purpose of the Hopkins Sommer Scholars Program is to develop the next generation of public health leaders. The Scholars' ability to meet these expectations will be fostered through their participation in the Leslie and Thomas DeRosa Leadership Program that includes:

- A series of leadership training presentations and activities;
- Interactions with members of the federal, legislative and administrative branches of government;
- Discussions with the staff of the World Bank, the Johns Hopkins Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies, the Pan American Health Organization, the Red Cross and other organizations;
- Intensive training in presentation skills, including public speaking, media relations, lobbying and strategic planning;
- Sommer Scholar rotations, which may include but will not be limited to, assignments with bilateral and multilateral agencies such as the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the World Health Organization, and others and short-term secondments to major global pharmaceutical, health care and medical technology companies.

The inaugural class of Hopkins Sommer Scholars will enter fall of 2005. They are:

MPH Students

Grace Chan
Jon Creekpaum
Melva Green
Jessica Greenberg
Constance Hwang
Gwynne Jenkins
Heon-Jae Jeong
Lindsay Kim
Yung-Ting Kung
Lydia Mann-Bondat
Traci Means
Mua Ngo
Rajesh Panjabi
Daniel Schainholz
Jason Vassy

Doctoral Students

Abena Agyeman
Marco Carone
Pritika Chatterjee
Yong Chen
Jessica Fehringer
Christen Fornadel
Caitlin Kennedy
Sadaf Khan
Jessica Leibler Tuchmann
Pallab Maulik
Laura Steinhardt
Lainie Rutkow
Emma Tsui
Leora Vegosen

New Awards for Incoming Students

The recipients of the following awards are incoming students who are expected to arrive in Baltimore later this summer. They will be recognized at the Honors and Awards Ceremony in May 2006.

The David and Patricia Bernstein Scholarship

Established by University Trustee, David Bernstein, and his wife, Patricia Bernstein, income from this fund will support graduate students at the School, with a preference given to students who are pursuing a Master of Public Health degree.

Recipient: Laura Sauve

The Council for Population and Family Health Scholarship

Created by members of the Council for Population and Family Health, this scholarship provides full tuition and stipend to a deserving incoming student whose career in public health will be dedicated to population and family health initiatives.

Recipient: Cui Yang

Schoolwide Awards for Incoming Students

J. Howard Beard Fellowship

The Howard C. and Jane R. Goodman Fund

The Lillian Hiss-Ethel Crosby Scholarship Fund

The Sibley and Catherine Hoobler Award for Excellence in Public Health and Medicine

The John C. Hume Fund for Academic Excellence and Promise in an MPH Student

Departmental Awards for Incoming Students

The recipients of the following awards are incoming students who are expected to arrive in Baltimore later this summer. They will be recognized at the Honors and Awards Ceremony in May 2006.

The Marilyn Bergner Award in Health Services Research

Miriam E. Brailey Fund

The June Culley Scholarship in Health Policy and Management

The Dyar Memorial Fund

Charles D. Flagle Fund

The Pearl and Jeremiah German Scholarship in Gerontology

The William Haddon, Jr. Fellowship in Injury Prevention

Health Policy and Management Fellowship Support

The Mary B. Meyer Memorial Fund

Dr. and Mrs. Roscoe M. Moore, Jr. Scholarship in the Department in Epidemiology

The John P. Young Memorial Fund

Alumni Association Awards

The Johns Hopkins University Alumni Association Excellence in Teaching Awards

Each year the Johns Hopkins University Alumni Association honors professors for their outstanding abilities as teachers. The 2005 award winners are:

Large Class Size Category

Marie Diener-West, PhD
Biostatistics

Medium Class Size Category

Stephen Teret, MPH, JD
Health Policy and Management

Small Class Size Category

Vicente Navarro, PhD, DrPH
Health Policy and Management

Student Outreach Resource Center Community Service Award

This award recognizes students who have made an outstanding contribution to community-based organization during the past academic school year.

Recipients: Randy Aussenberg
Lainie Rutkow

Student Assembly Awards

Golden Apple Awards

The Golden Apple is awarded by the Student Assembly to faculty chosen for excellence in teaching.

Recipients: Marie Diener-West, Biostatistics
Stephen Teret, Health Policy and Management
Vicente Navarro, Health Policy and Management

Advising, Mentoring, & Teaching Recognition Award

The AMTRAs are given to faculty for instructors who demonstrate a commitment to teaching, advising, and mentoring students and who make significant contributions to student quality of life. Recipients are chosen by the Awards Committee of the Student Assembly based on nominations and testimonials by students.

Recipients: Dina Borzekowski, Population and Family Health Sciences
Joel Gittelsohn, International Health
Jon Vernick, Health Policy and Management
Shannon Frattaroli, Health Policy and Management
Kellogg J. Schwab, Environmental Health Sciences
Stephen Gange, Epidemiology
Haroutune Armenian, Epidemiology
Karen Bandeen-Roche, Biostatistics
Constantine Frangakis, Biostatistics
Joanne Katz, International Health

The following Student Assembly Awards are bestowed by the student body to acknowledge the recipients' special contribution to student life:

Staff Recognition Awards

Recipients: Latrenya Hines
Ryan Foxworthy
Mindi Levin
Edith Muth
Matthew Miller

Student Recognition Awards

Recipients: Sonia Singh
Daniel Ehlman

Teaching Assistant Recognition Awards

Recipients: Elizabeth Johnson
Sorina E. Eftim

Student Assembly President

Recipient: Srinivas Sridhara

Honors & Awards Committee

Haroutune Armenian	Professor, Department of Epidemiology; Chair, Honors and Awards Committee
Saifudden Ahmed	Assistant Professor, Department of Population and Family Health Sciences
Hossein Bahrami	Student representative
Frank Curriero	Associate Scientist, Department of Biostatistics
Ann Klassen	Associate Professor, Department of Health Policy and Management
Catherine Klein	Director, Graduate Education
William Latimer	Associate Professor, Department of Mental Hygiene
Paul Miller	Professor, Biochemistry & Molecular Biology
Douglas Norris	Assistant Professor, Department Molecular Microbiology & Immunology
Andrea Ruff	Associate Professor, Department of International Health
Edyth Schoenrich	Professor, Department of Health Policy & Management; Associate Chair, MPH Program; Director, Part-Time Professional Programs
Kellogg Schwab	Assistant Professor, Department of Environmental Health Sciences
Yahya Shaikh	Student Representative
Linda Smeyne	Director of Development