

PROJECT POWER

Project Power, a program of the American Diabetes Association, is seeking volunteers. Project Power is an outreach program to the African American church community focusing on diabetes education. The curriculum is already developed and is presented in five modules over time. Volunteers would be trained on module content, assigned to a specific church, and then responsible for coordinating and conducting the module presentations. If you are interested or have questions, please contact Shawn McIntosh, ADA Market Manager, at (410) 265-0075 ext. 4676 or e-mail smcintosh@diabetes.org. ADA can be found on-line at www.diabetes.org.
