

The purpose of this event is to provide a convenient location for agency representatives from around the country to meet students, faculty and alumni to discuss organization functions, employment opportunities, consultancies, internships, and career information for public health graduates and professionals. In turn, you will have the benefit of meeting a high caliber of students (average age 32) who are potentially very appropriate for adding to your organization's role in advancing the public's health.

The following information will be published in the Public Health Career Fair 2009 handbook that will be given to students. Please limit your information to the lengths specified.
