

Judith R. Baker, MHSA, is the Regional Administrative Director for the Federal Hemophilia Treatment Centers/Region IX (www.hemophiliaregion9.org), providing leadership and direction and managing governmental and private health care, training, and research grants in California, Hawaii, Nevada and Guam. She has lectured and published abstracts and articles on the U.S. regional model of hemophilia care, women's bleeding disorders, and developing hemophilia services in the U.S. Pacific. Ms. Baker created and annually organizes several clinical care, health policy, and advocacy seminars. She currently serves on FDA's Blood Products Advisory Committee and CDC's UDC/Female Bleeding Disorder Working Group, and she received the National Hemophilia Foundation Meritorious Service Award. Ms. Baker obtained her Master degree in Health Services Administration from the University of Michigan.