

Lillian K. Gibbons, DrPH, is a Public Health Consultant and former Director of the Children's Health Initiative for the Uninsured at the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (DHHS/CMS). She has held a variety of senior leadership positions throughout her three decades of service to national and international public health organizations. Ms. Gibbons points to the following experiences as part of the evolution of her leadership style and skills:

- Experiences in providing care to multicultural diverse populations in Latin America, Africa and the Middle East have shaped my commitment to focus always on the PEOPLE served by our programs.
- Experience on the Faculty of JHU shaped my commitment to focusing on Mentoring the next Generation of Leaders—to be Continual Life Time Learners—a commitment that continued throughout my career in Government as I served as mentor and advisor to many professional new staff in CMS.
- Experience in Management Development Training Programs while in the private sector at Westinghouse Electric Corporation, and later serving as a key leader in developing the Total Quality Management Programs at CMS, allowed me to maximize the talents and resources to ensure effective collaboration among staff at all levels.
