

JOHNS HOPKINS
BLOOMBERG
SCHOOL of PUBLIC HEALTH

Department of Biostatistics

BIostatistics GRAND ROUNDS

“Dedicated to Advancing the Practice of Biostatistics
at the Johns Hopkins Medical Institution”

CONCURRENT MHS FLASH TALKS

Four of our concurrent MHS students will be presenting their work.

Each speaker has prepared a 10-12 minute presentation; followed by questions/discussion.

Time	Speaker and Title
12:15-12:30	Zhi Yu “Using Human Biology to Improve Mendelian Randomization Study: a Kidney Function Example”
12:30-12:45	Lucy Qiao “Discontinuation of Angiotensin Converting Enzyme Inhibitors and Angiotensin Receptor Blockers in the Setting of Chronic Kidney Function”
12:45-1:00	Forest Jones “Quantifying the Duration of Immunity to Severe Cholera Infection”
1:00-1:15	Qifang Bi “How Does Response Relationships Can Drive the Impact of Cholera Vaccines”

Monday, September 9, 2019, 12:05-pm, Room W2008, WOLFE STREET, SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH BUILDING--Refreshments 12:00pm)

Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health, Department of Biostatistics
Monday, September 9, 12:05:1-15, Room W2008 (Refreshments 12:00pm)

For more information” or disability access information or listening devices, please contact the Office of Support Services at 410-955-1197 or on the web www.jhsph.edu/SupportServices, EO/AA

Dept. of Biostatistics, 615 N. Wolfe Street, Suite E3527, Baltimore, MD 21205