Figure 2: This figure shows risk estimates from selected cohort and case control studies of occupation and brain cancer. Studies that report risk estimates with a small 95% confidence interval are given more weight. This is represented by a larger box. Individual risk estimates were combined to obtain a pooled estimate.