Question 4

COVID-19: Back to Campus (2020-2021) and Remote Contact Tracing

I wish to access the course COVID-19: Back to Campus (2020-2021) and acknowledge that I have read and understood the statement below:

This course’s materials were developed or reviewed by medical, research, and environmental health and safety professionals in coordination with the Association of American Medical Colleges (AAMC) in an effort to help researchers, students, and administrative staff, manage the risks associated with COVID-19 as they return to campus. Some of these materials may be based on resources and guidance documents produced by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the U.S. Department of Labor’s Occupational Health and Safety Administration, and the National Institutes of Health. The materials are presented by the CITI Program for dissemination of information to members of the AAMC as well as other institutions. Please note, it is not possible to include discussion of everything necessary to ensure a healthy and safe working environment in a presentation of this nature. As such, this information must be understood as a tool for addressing workplace hazards but not a comprehensive solution. As researchers learn more about COVID-19, professional recommendations and legal requirements may change, and we urge you to keep apprised of such developments. In addition, individuals must always adhere to state and local regulations as well as institutional policy. Lastly, the information presented here is not intended to provide medical advice. You should seek appropriate medical treatment or call 911 (or applicable emergency service in your area) if it is an emergency.

NOTE: Access to this course will terminate on 1 March 2021.

COVID-19: Back to Campus access includes access to the Remote Contact Tracing course.
