

Mark Rothmann, Ph.D.

Deputy Division Director, Division of Biometrics II, Center for Drug Evaluation and Research, Food and Drug Administration

Dr. Rothmann (Mark) earned his Ph. D. in Statistics at the University of Iowa in 1990. He then spent the next nine years as a professor at various universities before coming to the FDA in 1999. At the FDA, he has since been involved in the review on Oncology, Hematology, and Metabolism and Endocrinology products and has been a Deputy Division Director or Acting Director since 2016. He has done research in several areas involving the design and analysis of clinical trials.