

John Scott, Ph.D., M.A.

Director, Division of Biostatistics, Center for Biologics Evaluation and Research, Food and Drug Administration

John Scott is Director of the Division of Biostatistics in the FDA's Center for Biologics Evaluation and Research. Prior to joining FDA in 2008, John worked in psychiatric clinical trials at the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center. He holds a Ph.D. in Biostatistics from the University of Pittsburgh and an M.A. in Mathematics from Washington University in St. Louis, and is currently Editor of the journal, Pharmaceutical Statistics.