E-cigarettes: When the smoke clears, risks still abound

2014 DANIEL J. RASKIN MEMORIAL SYMPOSIUM ON INJURY PREVENTION

Wednesday, October 29, 2014
12 – 1:30 p.m.

Feinstone Hall
Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health
MODERATOR

Shannon Frattaroli, PhD, MPH: The Associate Director for Outreach at the Johns Hopkins Center for Injury Research and Policy and Associate Professor in the Department of Health Policy and Management, Dr. Frattaroli has more than twenty years of experience in injury prevention. A public health policy researcher, Dr. Frattaroli specializes in using qualitative research methods to study injury prevention policy and program implementation.

PANELISTS

Joanna Cohen, PhD, MHSc: An Associate Professor in the Department of Health, Behavior and Society at Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health, Dr. Joanna Cohen serves as the Director of the Institute for Global Tobacco Control, aimed to prevent death and disease from tobacco products by generating evidence to support effective tobacco control interventions. Trained in epidemiology and health policy, Dr. Cohen has worked extensively on tobacco control research.

Lawrence A. McKenna, Jr., PhD, PE, PMP: Dr. Lawrence McKenna, Jr. is a Fire Program Specialist with the United States Fire Administration, operated by the Federal Emergency Management Agency. In his role, Dr. McKenna is responsible for fire safety issues affecting first responders and the public and has developed many of the tools and protocols that have since become industry standards.

David C. Schwebel, PhD: A Professor and Associate Dean for Research in the Sciences at the University of Alabama at Birmingham (UAB), Dr. David C. Schwebel currently teaches and conducts research related to understanding and preventing child and adolescent unintentional injury. Dr. Schwebel is also the Director of the UAB Youth Safety Lab, which conducts lab-based studies of factors that lead to child and adolescent injury.

Joshua M. Sharfstein, MD: As Maryland’s Secretary of Health and Mental Hygiene, Dr. Joshua Sharfstein oversees the state’s operations of Medicaid, public health, behavioral health, and services for the developmentally disabled. Dr. Sharfstein previously served as the Principal Deputy Commissioner for the U.S. Food and Drug Administration and the Commissioner of Health for the City of Baltimore, where he was named Governing Magazine’s Public Official of the Year.

---

E-cigarettes: When the smoke clears, risks still abound

17TH ANNUAL DANIEL J. RASKIN MEMORIAL SYMPOSIUM ON INJURY PREVENTION

WELCOME

Ellen J. MacKenzie, PhD ’79
Professor and Chair
Department of Health Policy and Management

ABOUT DANIEL J. RASKIN

Susan P. Baker, MPH ’68, ScD (Hon.)
Professor and Founding Director
Johns Hopkins Center for Injury Research and Policy

OPENING REMARKS

Andrea C. Gielen, ScD ’89, ScM ’79
Professor and Director
Johns Hopkins Center for Injury Research and Policy

PANEL MODERATOR

Shannon Frattaroli, PhD ’99, MPH ’94
Associate Professor and Associate Director
Johns Hopkins Center for Injury Research and Policy

PANELISTS

Joanna Cohen, PhD
Associate Professor and Director
Institute for Global Tobacco Control

Lawrence A. McKenna, Jr., PhD, PE, PMP
Program Specialist
Federal Emergency Management Agency

David C. Schwebel, PhD
Professor and Associate Dean for Research in the Sciences
University of Alabama at Birmingham

Joshua M. Sharfstein, MD
Secretary
Department of Health & Mental Hygiene

---

This symposium honors Daniel J. Raskin who was a highly skilled human-factors investigator on the National Transportation Board (NTSB) and a tireless advocate for transportation safety and injury prevention. Daniel was killed as a volunteer firefighter in 1990 by a preventable explosion of faulty equipment. The symposium is endowed by the Raskin family as a tribute to his life’s work. The goal is to educate public health professionals and the broader community about current research, policy, and programs to reduce injury.